We'll Not Give Up the Bible.

We'll not give up the Bible, God's holy Book of truth: The blessed staff of hoary age, The guide of early youth:
The sun that shed a glorious light
O'er every dreary road:
The voice that speaks a Saviour's love,
And leads us home to God.

We'll not give up the Bible, For pleasure or for pain; We'll buy the truth, and sell it not.

For all that we might grain: Though man should try to take our prize By gulle or cruel might; We'll suffer all that man can do, And God defend the right!

We'll not give up the Bible,
But spread it far and we.
Until its saving voice is heard
Beyond the rolling tide:
Till all shall know its gracious power,
And with one voice and heart!
Resolve that from God's holy Word Resolve that from God's holy Word We'll never, never part!

____ How TO PREPARE TOMATO SAUCE. MR EDI How to PREFARE TOMATO SACCE.—Mr. Entron.—Thinking the following directions may be sorvicable to some of your readers, I offer them for publication in your columns.

Gather your tomatoes when fully ripe, and after washing, mash them in some suitable vessel. Then place them in a kettle, over a moderate fire, and when just warmed through, press a callender down upon them—then dripping from the callender all the watery juice possible. After boiling a short time, strain the mass a callender down upon them—then

NATHAN WINSLOW,

RECEARS. Garden Rhubarb is valuable an early vegetable. For said; and postry, it is a good substitute for apples and other fruits, it being ready for use at any time when these frairs cannot be easly obtained. Its good-ness, however, depends much on its being so ness, however, depends much on its being so cultivated as to secure a large and rapid growth. For this purpose, select a location to which the sun has free access. Then form a space of sufficent length and width, remove the earth the depth of two and a half feet, and fill the trench with rich soil and manure. Let the the latter be used plentifully; for rhubarb is a great consumer, and there is no danger of considering it too much. The ground being enriching it too much. The ground being thus prepared, the plants may be inserted with their tops two or three inches below the sur-fact.

And I have nover seen this maxim more favorably illustrated than in the case of rhubarb, when treated in the manner above described. It then has a rapid growth, and produces stalked unusual tenderness.
